

Eisenhower Hits Present Farm Bill

Says Doubts If Would Be Of Help to Farmers

President Expresses Gratitude for Vote in Wisconsin

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Eisenhower said today that it is problematical whether the farm bill in its present shape would be of any help to farmers.

The chief executive said he still hopes Congress will produce a sensible bill this year, but he thought any benefits from the so-called soil bank would be so late as to be negligible this year.

Mr. Eisenhower in a meeting with reporters also expressed gratitude over the heavy vote cast for him in the Wisconsin preference primary Tuesday. He declined to analyze his vote as compared to that of Democratic Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Other highlights of the news conference:

1. He declined to join with his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, in recent broad criticism of Democratic congressional leadership. The President said he believed that the people in Congress in general were trying to do what they thought best for the United States, although their performance sometimes varied in the heat of partisanship.

Says NATO Aids Peace

2. Discussing recent shifts in Soviet policy and the Communists' denunciation of Stalin, the President said he thinks there has been no basic change in the long-time aims of Communist leaders.

3. He noted that today is the 50th anniversary of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and said NATO has made a distinct contribution to world peace.

4. He hotly rejected as ridiculous an inquiry as to whether American Marines now in the Mediterranean would be sent to war without congressional approval.

New Strip Mine Planned for Independence Area

Of big economic importance to the area is the report of a new coal mine coming into Saline county that will employ 60 or 70 men. Reports were that it will be a stripping operation five miles south of Harrisburg.

Leases for the coal have been secured for the Newcastle Coal and Land Trust, it was learned. They involve between 400 and 500 acres in Independence township. The acreage will be mined by the Saxton Coal Co., which now has an operation on Route 45 between Carrier Mills and Stonefort.

Reports were that the acreage was secured from a number of small land owners in Independence. It was reported that construction of a tippie and washer will be started in the not-too-distant future and that the operation should be in production by August.

It also was learned that a railroad spur from the New York Central tracks to the mine was in the program.

Voters to Ballot April 20 On Proposal to Boost HTHS Tax Rate

A proposition to increase the tax rate for educational purposes for the Harrisburg Township High school will be presented to the voters of the district Friday, April 20.

The ballot, to be voted at the High school building, will provide that the rate be increased from 65 cents per $100 assessed valuation to 86 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The Board of Education, in offering the proposition to the voters for a third time, states that additional revenue for educational purposes is necessary if the school is to be maintained on the level to which citizens of the district have been accustomed, "to say nothing of trying to improve the school so that it may keep pace with high schools of neighboring communities."

For the past several years the school operated on a 50 cent educational rate. Last year the Legislature increased this to 65 cents, but this still will not supply sufficient funds, it is pointed out.

The Board of Education has borrowed $20,000 to pay current expenses for March of this year, and it is estimated the educational fund deficit will be approximately $70,000 at the end of the current school year.

The building fund is in comparatively good condition, but no building funds may be used for educational purposes.

Invite Public to Meeting at High School Thursday

The residents of the Harrisburg Township high school district are invited to a meeting at the school Thursday evening at 7:30 at which time school finances will be discussed.

The proposal to ask for a higher educational tax rate will be explained and questions as to school finances and operations will be answered.

The meeting will be in "B" assembly—in the Taylor building.

Aunt of Mrs. Harry Denny Dies in Indiana

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Denny were called to North Vernon, Ind., Saturday by the death of Mrs. Eva Hooker, 94 years of age, the only sister of the late Thomas Storey, father of Mrs. Denny.

Delinquency Problems Discussed at Kiwanis by Police Chief Ross Lane

Problems of juvenile delinquency which have been met by the Harrisburg police department were discussed before members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple by Ross Lane, police chief and member of the club.

Some of the problems which we have are typical all over the nation, he said.

He told of one case of a boy who had violated his probation, but was given a second chance by a store owner who placed him back in school and is supervising his studies. The boy's home environment was described as very bad and Mr. Lane praised the local business man who is giving the boy an opportunity to lift himself above this environment.

Chief Lane also stated that parents who do not properly supervise their children should be prosecuted.

"Kids in hot rod cars are a problem, but they are not necessarily juvenile delinquents," Chief Lane said.

Other more serious problems by young children should be solved by placing the children in homes and placing charges against the parents, he said.

A special guest of the Kiwanis club last night was Lt. Governor Leon Whitney of Anna, who made an official visit to the club. In a short talk Lt. Gov. Whitney praised the Harrisburg club for its good attendance and activity so far this year.

The Kiwanis club will hold a chili supper Tuesday, April 10, from 5 until 9 p. m. to which the general public is invited to attend. The chili supper is a fund raising event to help the club finance its various activities to help children of the community, one of which will be the summer baseball program sponsored annually by the Kiwanis club. Members of the club will take turns in "KP" duty and will serve as waiters during the chili supper hours. Wives of the club members will bake cakes which will be auctioned during the evening.

The Harrisburg club also will be host to a Fellowship meeting by Division 16 clubs on April 17. Dr. D. W. Morris, president of Southern Illinois university, will be the speaker.

The Kiwanis club also has been invited to meet with Rotarians next Monday at the regular weekly meeting. Members who can attend were asked to make reservations with Louie Beltz of the Rotary club.

Jim Wyly was a guest of his father-in-law, Charles Hine, at last night's meeting and Raymond Pickford was guest of C. J. Beggs. Ed Creek rejoined the club at last night's meeting.

At a board of directors meeting following the regular session R. C. Davenport was elected vice president of the club, replacing John Metten, who was forced to resign because of business commitments.

Eisenhower Wins Vote Contest With Kefauver

Wisconsin Returns Keep GOP Jittery About Farm Issue

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Wisconsin primary returns gave President Eisenhower a popularity contest victory over Sen. Estes Kefauver today, but the Tennessee Democrat noded enough votes to keep Republicans jittery about the farm vote.

While the state's presidential primaries had no great significance in terms of the GOP and Democratic presidential nominations, the results were being watched for signs of a Democratic pickup in the farm belt. Wisconsin is a normally Republican state.

Nearly complete results showed Mr. Eisenhower with 407,102 votes in the Republican presidential primary against 17,761 for John B. Chapple, Ashland, Wis., editor and critic of administration foreign policy. In the same precincts, Kefauver polled 312,245 votes in the Democratic primary with no opposition.

Kefauver won about 42 per cent of the vote compared with the 24 per cent polled by all Democratic candidates in the 1952 presidential primaries.

Disagree on Significance

One of the ranking GOP professionals here, who is keeping a nervous eye on the farm vote, said before the Wisconsin ballots were counted that Kefauver would have to poll 40 to 45 per cent of the vote to justify any boasting by Democrats.

Wisconsin Democratic Chairman Philo Nash said Kefauver's vote reflected a "farm revolt" against the GOP. Republican State Chairman Philip Kuehn said the results did not "indicate a great deal of anything."

In Florida, where he is campaigning for his May 29 primary match against Adlai Stevenson, Kefauver said he did much better than he expected. He had appealed to Wisconsin voters to support him to show their opposition to administration policies.

"I am greatly encouraged and feel that I would carry Wisconsin in the November general election against President Eisenhower," Kefauver said. "The primary returns show that the farmers are voting for my program and for me."

Prepares for Illinois

Stevenson was taking a holiday with friends at Kingsland, Ga., before moving into Florida later this week. He stayed out of the Wisconsin primary. But he faces his own popularity contest with Mr. Eisenhower in his home state of Illinois in the presidential primaries there next Tuesday.

Staiger Serves as Moderator for Town Meeting

Roy Staiger, who has served as moderator of the Harrisburg town meetings for many years, served again yesterday despite two operations in recent weeks.

With the annual meeting coming up yesterday, Town Clerk Zola Sloan remarked that it was too bad that Mr. Staiger would not be able to serve this year after so many years of service. Atty. L. M. Hancock suggested that he might be able to do so.

Mrs. Sloan called the Staiger residence, and arrangements were made for Supervisor Virgil Ferrell to pick him up and take him to the meeting, where he was the moderator. He was taken home immediately after the meeting.

Council Awaits State Approval Of Paving Plans

Plans are ready for the South Main-Robinson paving project but the state has not yet approved the council's construction resolution, Engineer R. R. Brown told the Harrisburg city council yesterday.

The council passed the construction resolution several weeks ago and it was sent to the division of highways for approval.

Meanwhile Brown worked on the plans and specification for the pavement project and has them ready. But they cannot be approved by the council until an O.K. is received on the construction resolution.

It was believed that a special meeting to approve Brown's plans will be called just as soon as approval is received on the resolution.

Mayor Claud Gibbons informed the council that the Harrisburg Lions club is ready to start a recreation improvement on Lake Harrisburg with profits received from the recent wrestling match sponsored by the club. The organization, he stated, wants state assistance in the form of a survey so that the area can be set up in the proper place. The city clerk was instructed to write the superintendent of state parks seeking the help.

The area at the rear of the city hall has been graded and rocked by Sneed Jordan's street department to give parking places for city officials, but it was brought up at the meeting yesterday that the city officials can't use the spaces because cars are already using them.

Police Commissioner Charles R. Hine was told by the council to take steps to halt the parking there of unauthorized automobiles.

Small Twister at Lawrenceville; Cooler Weather Moves Into State

By United Press

Cold weather moved into Illinois today on the heels of tornadoes, ripping winds and blowing dust.

Farm buildings were ripped apart and machinery scattered late Tuesday when a twister dipped down about 3 miles north of White Heath, then moved northeast toward Mansfield and Farmer City.

The De Witt County sheriff's office said apparently no one was injured, but "a lot of buildings were torn up."

Twister funnels also were reported near Harris and Galesville. One destroyed a house and barn a few miles from Harris.

Monticello Constable Wade Donaldson said several buildings were destroyed at the Amos Wheatman farm 4 miles north of Deland.

In the southeast another twister swooped down on Lawrenceville, destroying a sawmill. Workmen saw the black funnel approaching and took shelter, avoiding injury.

Nine persons were injured, two seriously, when strong winds picked up a temporary wooden sidewalk in Chicago's Loop and dumped them into a 10-foot-deep building excavation.

A dust storm extended from Princeton to Galesburg, halting traffic in that area. The dust clouds, blown up from the south-west, almost obscured roads around Alpha.

The raking winds tore up topsoil from cultivated fields in Illinois' western corn belt. The haze was so thick that the horizon appeared to melt into the sky in some areas.

Motorists had to slow down hurriedly when cars suddenly appeared from the haze. Piles of dust usually associated with the south-western dust bowl piled up in roadside ditches.

The winds were expected to diminish today, but weather experts said they would be replaced by falling temperatures.

Brief but violent hailstorms lashed Mount Vernon and Chicago, causing minor damage. Hailstones up to 1 inch in diameter hit Mount Vernon. Heavy rain accompanied the hail, overflowing storm sewers in some areas of the city.

Hailstones as big as marbles swept by winds up to 60 miles an hour broke numerous windows in Chicago.

High winds, measured at 95 miles per hour, struck Joliet Municipal airport. The gusts blew the roof off a large hangar, tossed three planes onto the airfield and knocked out three of the airport's six radio antennas.

A 35-year-old heat record was broken in Chicago Tuesday. The mercury climbed to 81 degrees at 2 p. m., topping the old mark of 77 degrees set on April 3, 1921.

Lightning Damages Walter Lynch Home

Lightning yesterday afternoon did damage at the Walter Lynch residence at 1103 South Webster street. Fire Chief L. G. Martin, who was called, said the fuses in the fuse box were blown out, there was damage to some of the electrical wiring, and the telephone was put out of commission.

Rainfall yesterday measured .36 inch, Harrison Kibler reported.

Woman Who Set Small Fires in White House Held for Examination

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—A middle-aged woman who tried to set fire to the White House and Executive Office Building underwent medical observation today.

She told Secret Service agents she set the fires Tuesday because she "had a lot of trash and just wanted to burn it."

The woman set the first in a series of five fires in the famed Red Room of the White House while President Eisenhower worked in his office about 80 yards away.

However, the President never was in any danger. None of the fires caused any appreciable damage.

She told Secret Service agents her name is Mrs. Julia M. Chase, but she said she did not know where she came from. She said she was born in Hagerstown, Md., 53 years ago.

The woman set her first fire in the ornate Red Room at 10:30 a. m. EST, while hundreds of tourists were viewing the public rooms of the White House.

Police said the woman dropped

More Than 500 Injured; Damage Totals Millions

Rampage Covers 11 States; Michigan Is Hardest Hit

By United Press

Tornadoes and storms that battered a dozen states in a two-day barrage left 43 persons dead, more than 500 injured and hundreds homeless.

Property damage soared into the millions.

The twisters and storms spread a swath of destruction from Oklahoma to Michigan.

The Grand Rapids, Mich., area suffered the severest blow. The death count there rose to 24 as rescue crews searched debris reminiscent of wartime bomb devastation.

The Michigan twisters, spawned Tuesday night at twilight, struck the surrounding area and narrowly missed Grand Rapids, a city of 250,000.

Elsewhere, tornadoes and storms spread destruction in Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, and Kansas.

In Michigan, one twister swept in from Lake Michigan, narrowly missed Holland and swung north toward Grand Rapids. Witnesses stood trance-like as they watched the deadly funnel, but many sought refuge in basements and behind buildings.

Michigan Hardest Hit

The tornado ripped communities south of Grand Rapids. The bodies of 13 victims were recovered at Hudsonville. Four persons were killed in Grand Rapids and its suburbs.

A second twister hit the Traverse City area, killing one woman at nearby Thompsonville.

In Wisconsin, 6 persons were killed late Tuesday at Berlin and 2 at Bancroft. More than 50 were injured in the twin twisters, 16 seriously.

At Berlin, a town of 5,000, 40 employees of the Sands Knitting Mill were injured. The twister, of 30 seconds duration, ripped roofs from buildings, smashed cars and snapped trees 10 feet from the ground.

Five persons were killed in Tennessee and Mississippi late Tuesday as twisters ripped through Dixie's "tornado alley."

Two were killed and 60 injured at Lexington, Tenn., where the Red Cross set up emergency shelters and kitchens for 75 homeless families.

Two others were killed as a dozen injured in Dyer county, Tenn. At Anthonston, Ky., an 85-year-old woman was killed when a tornado blew her farm home into a pond.

Worst Dust Storm

On Monday, the first day of the siege, tornadoes killed five persons at Drumright, Okla., and two in Kansas, at Toronto and Grenola.

In addition, three persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents blamed on one of the worst dust storms in memory.

At Winona, Minn., violent winds swept a raft away in the Mississippi River and one of five boys drowned.

The army of deadly twisters was created by a vigorous spring storm that moved northward out of the Southwest, kicking up clouds of towering dust there Monday and spreading ice and snow across the northern Plains Tuesday.

In South Dakota, 50 communities were cut off from telephone communications Tuesday when ice snapped utility lines.

The storm forced cold air into collision with a record-setting mid-western heat wave and stirred a weather brew that included cloudbursts and hail.

The storm's effects stretched eastward into Ohio. Toledo was lashed by 86 miles per hour winds and lightning touched off a $120,000 fire at Arcanum, Ohio.

Shifting Political Issues

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Sometimes in an election year the issues are ready made and the opposition party has a field day. In other situations the combatants have to scratch for really good campaign material.

A party out of office now and then finds its task complicated by differences between what its presidential candidates may be urging on the hustings and what its elected representatives may be doing.

This can have the effect of cutting at least part of the ground from under a party which is trying to strike an aggressive campaign posture.

This year the Democrats have been handed one easy issue—President Eisenhower's health. The President's own frankness on this question thrust it prominently into the campaign.

In other areas, however, the going has been more difficult.

The Democrats believe that their prime issue, aside from Mr. Eisenhower's health is the steady, marked decline in farmers' income from crops and livestock.

There is no doubt that this decline is, and ought to be, a matter of high concern to anyone bent upon safeguarding the economic health and welfare of this nation.

But merely stating this does not mean that voters generally will act next November with this problem high in their consciousness.

Evidence suggests they will do so in farm states where the impact of the income drop is heavy.

The outlook elsewhere is inconclusive.

Furthermore, those candidates who have been urging a return to high rigid farm price supports have had their work made tougher by the recent Senate vote on the issue.

With Democrats in control of the upper house, it voted 54 to 41 to block restoration of high supports.

Despite the advertised position of Adlai Stevenson, Senator Kefauver and others, 13 Democrats voted with the majority against high supports. Presidential prospects taking the opposite position may find farmers somewhat more skeptical than before when it comes to these candidates' chances of delivering on their promises.

Some Democrats, too, want to make much of what they consider the Eisenhower administration's overgenerosity with the country's natural resources. Especially in the richly endowed West, candidates planned to hit this hard.

Once again, the matter has been clouded by the recently vetoed bill to free natural gas producers from federal regulation.

On this measure, the Senate Democratic leadership pressed for removal of U. S. control, and 22 Democrats—a shade less than half those voting—backed the leaders.

This does not mean these issues may not somehow be resharpened between now and November, or that new and perhaps far more powerful issues may not develop.

But it does suggest, as the Republicans long ago discovered in their long ordeal on the outside, that life for a politician fighting for the nation's highest stakes can be enormously troublesome.

"Which Would You Rather Have on Your Back?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ike Seriously Considers Trip To India; Friend Of Alcoa May Become Ike's New Trust-Buster; Tom Corcoran Argues With Jimmie Roosevelt Over Bananas.

WASHINGTON. — President Eisenhower took 50 minutes out of the other day to discuss the idea of going on a good-will mission to India during the Democratic national convention next August.

He discussed the plan with evangelist Billy Graham who had recently come back from India. And, judging by the President's eager questions, he has a lot more than a mere polite interest in the trip.

He kept Billy Graham about 30 minutes overtime talking to him about the trip to India.

The general idea they discussed was, first, that our sagging relations with India badly needed a trip by the President himself; second, that if he flew to India just as the Democrats were meeting in Chicago, it would take the spotlight away from them, also make it difficult for them to criticize him effectively.

The trip would also demonstrate the condition of his health.

Finally, he would fly on around the world, arriving from the Pacific in San Francisco just as the Republicans nominated him for a second term. He could time a triumphant arrival at the exact moment of his acceptance speech.

Ike seemed to like the idea immensely. He gave the impression that he might go ahead with it if his health was up to it this summer.

Note: As part of the Indian mission strategy, Prime Minister Nehru, who visits Washington in July, could invite the President to make a return visit, and the President, in a gesture to the Indian people, could accept immediately.

NEW TRUST-BUSTER??

One bright light in an otherwise murky Ike-administration attitude toward little business has been Stanley Barnes, assistant attorney general, in charge of the antitrust division. Barnes has done a good job.

In one or two cases he has had to trim his sails, such as dropping the criminal prosecution suit against Ike's close friend, Roy Roberts, publisher of the Kansas City Star. But in most cases, Barnes has been forthright in going after monopoly, and recently he brought a criminal indictment against Shell Oil in Boston for fixing retail prices.

However, Eisenhower is now doing to Barnes what President Roosevelt did to Thurman Arnold when he was in charge of the antitrust division. He is kicking Barnes upstairs to the Circuit Court of Appeals. So the big question is who will take his place.

Barnes has certain good men around him, including some hold-over Democrats and some new Republicans. Among the latter is Robert Bicks, his legal assistant. However, the Justice Department grapevine has it that the new trust-busting job will go to Edward A. Foote, socialite politico, who happens to be chummy with Robert Learnard, Washington representative of the Aluminum Company of America.

There is no corporation which has been in more hot water with the antitrust division over monopoly than the Aluminum company.

TWO ROOSEVELTIANS

Two famous personalities of the Roosevelt administration, Congressman James Roosevelt and brain-truster Tommy Corcoran, had a backstage huddle last week at which they agreed to disagree. Their disagreement was over bananas.

"Tommy the Cork," who helped put across some of the foundation laws of the New Deal, is still a potent, though unobtrusive figure in Washington. Now a private attorney, he seems to get things done just as well under the Republicans as under the Democrats.

He called in Jimmie Roosevelt because Jimmie is planning to hold a Small Business committee hearing of complaints by banana jobbers against the United Fruit company. The jobbers contend that United Fruit fixes prices, monopolizes tropical fruit.

So Corcoran asked that Jimmie's hearings be in executive or closed-door session.

"If you have public hearings," Corcoran argued, "every newspaper in Latin America will carry headlines that United Fruit is the instrument of American imperialism."

"I'll be glad to inform the State Department that I'm holding the hearings," Roosevelt told his father's old friend. "But without a request from them on the basis that it will harm our Pan American relations, I'm not going to hold an executive session."

Note: The Justice Department some time ago brought an antitrust suit against United Fruit, now is considering dropping it with a consent decree. Roosevelt wants to find out whether the Justice Department has consulted the banana jobbers who have to do business with United Fruit before it considers its consent decree.

Staff economists on the President's Council of Economic Advisers are worried that prices may become even more inflationary. Heavy business borrowing and price increases in basic metals could mean dangerous inflation, followed by recession. Tennessee's Sen. Young Elephants From Circus Tour Broadway

NEW YORK — Labor troubles threatened to hinder the opening of the greatest show on earth to-night but circus officials said the show would go on anyway.

Thousands of New Yorkers got an unscheduled preview Tuesday night when a couple of young runaway elephants explored Broadway.

The most outstanding casualty of the circus's row with union organizers appeared to be Emmett Kelly, the famous sac-faced clown. Kelly is a member of the American Guild of Variety Artists, one of the union feuding with the circus, and has been ordered by the guild to stay away from the opening performance.

Kelly, who belongs to the union because of his off-season appearances around the country, passed up a television premier of the circus Tuesday night and was not expected to perform tonight.

The circus had elephant trouble Tuesday night when two baby elephants named Cass and Dale took it upon themselves to take a tour of the upper Broadway area around Madison Square Garden. The two escaped from their handlers, jogged around the block and then wandered eastward on 49th Street.

Their appearance collected a crowd estimated at up to 2,000 persons. The crowd displayed varying emotions, depending upon how close individuals were to the bewildered 9-foot-tall elephants.

Handlers and police finally corralled them with the aid of two older elephants, who calmed the young ones down, and led them back to the Garden.

Batista Crushes Conspiracy Plot

HAVANA — Loyal troops led by President Fulgencio Batista crushed a "revolutionary conspiracy" here Tuesday night and jailed the army officers responsible for the plot, it was announced today.

Troops and police were alerted in central Havana during the night and a news blackout was imposed for several hours, but so far as is known no fighting occurred.

Rain Postpones Two Area High School Baseball Games

Rain caused the postponement of two local area high school baseball games Tuesday afternoon. Shawneetown was scheduled to play at Ridgway. The game was reset for this afternoon, weather permitting.

Thompsonville was listed to open at Carrier Mills, and that game also was washed out. If arrangements could be completed, the game would be played this afternoon.

Thursday, at 3:45 p. m., Galatia will visit the Carrier Mills diamond.

Valter to Resign As Shawneetown Indians' Coach

Darwin Valter

Darwin Valter, coach at the Shawneetown Community high school, today announced his resignation effective at the end of the present school term, May 31.

Valter, native of Ridgway and graduate of Tulane university at New Orleans, stated his plans for next year were indefinite. However, he did say he was making tentative plans to enroll in the University of Texas law school this summer.

Completing his first year as coach, Valter had a successful season with the Shawneetown Indians. The team romped through the regular season undefeated and also capped the regional tourney played at McLeansboro.

Heavily favored to take the Harrisburg sectional, Shawneetown was upset by Carmi in the tourney opener.

Shawneetown took the championship of the Greater Egyptian conference and also won the first place trophies in the Equality Invitational at the GEC tournaments.

All-Stars, Oilers Play in Finals Of Olympic Trials

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The College All-Stars, only undefeated team in the American Olympic trials, could win a clear cut championship tonight in a game with the Phillips Oilers.

A loss by the collegians could throw the four-team field into a two-way or three-way tie, depending on what happens in the final game, the Armed Forces vs. the Seattle Buchanan Bakers.

Big Bill Russell and K. C. Jones of San Francisco sparked the Collegians to their second straight win 82-74, over the Armed Forces (1-1) Tuesday night, while Phillips (1-1) came back to eliminate Seattle (0-2) from the running, 72-64.

The important thing to be decided tonight, however, is the 12-man squad to represent the U. S. in the Olympics at Melbourne, Australia, in November.

From five to seven players will come from the championship team. The others will be selected by the winning coach and the Olympic committee from the roster of the three other teams. Also to be selected are six alternates, in case some of the 12 will not be eligible and available this fall.

In the event of a tie, the championship will be picked on a "point spread" basis, that is, the team with the biggest margin of points over its rivals. There, too, the collegians have an edge for they are now 15 points ahead of their rivals, Phillips minus 7, and the Armed Forces minus 7.

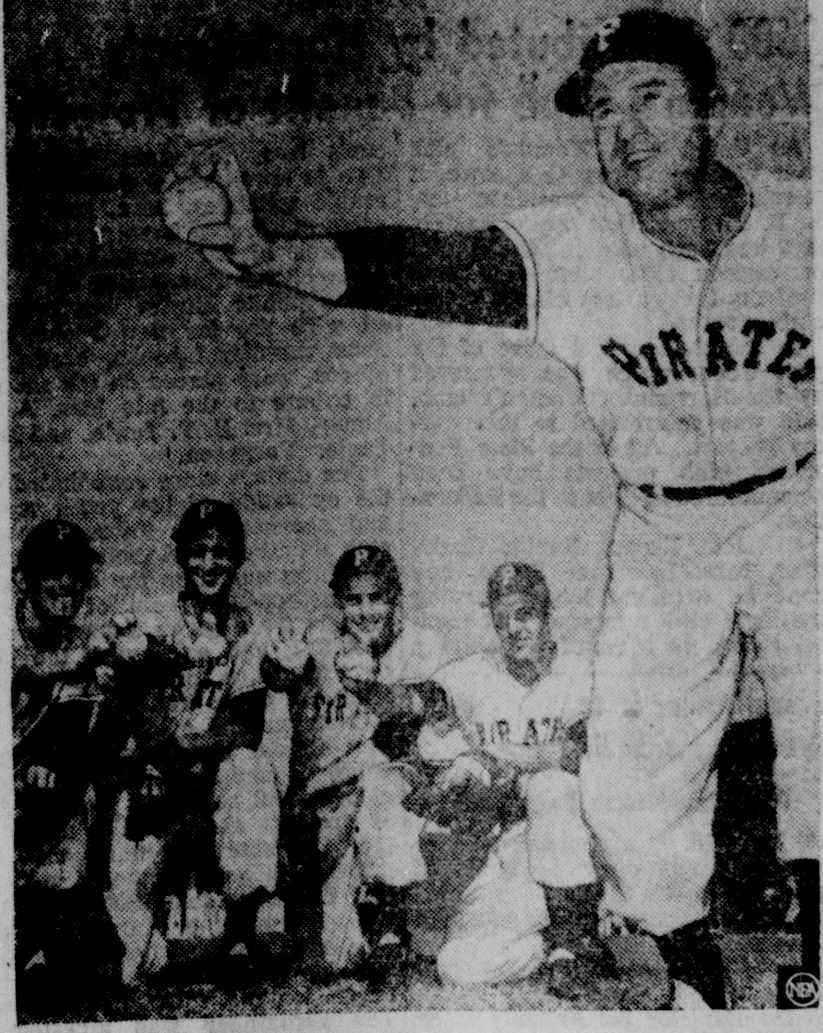

Bucky O'Connor of Iowa, the NCAA runner-up, is coaching the college players. He has indicated he would guide the team in Melbourne if selected.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

The annual across-the-nation junket of the Harlem Globetrotters and the College All-Stars has started and this basketball series is still one of sports' best drawing cards. The opener of the series was played in New York Easter Sunday, with the afternoon game drawing 12,135 fans. A second game that night was watched by 10,085.

The Trotters and Stars play in St. Louis this weekend.

Don Shroyer, football coach at Carmi who has accepted the head coaching job at Millikin university, had a highly successful tour at Carmi.

During his five years at the White county school Shroyer's teams racked up 30 triumphs, while losing only 11 times and being held to three ties.

His top season was 1953. The team closed a nine-game schedule without a loss or tie to mar the record.

Have just read in the Evansville Courier about a high-scoring basketball player from Wayland, Ky., high school.

The player, Kelly Coleman, wrecked scoring records at the Wayland high school by scoring 4,262 points during a four-year career. He averaged 33.6 points per game during that stretch.

During the past season Coleman played in 41 games, scoring 1,919 points for an average of 46.8. His teammates averaged 17, 12, 10 and 10 per game. That totals 49, or 3.2 points more than Coleman averaged.

Two southern Illinois footballers will attempt to make the professional ranks come the start of football "spring" training this summer.

Whitey Rouviere, the Buckner native who played high school ball at Christopher and starred in the college ranks at Miami university, will try out with the Washington Redskins.

Wayne Williams of Du Quoin, captain and end on the 1955 SIU football team, will report to the New York Giants grid camp.

John Bauer, Benton and University of Illinois star, is also expected to report to the pro Giants this year. He was a much sought after player following graduation from Illinois and has been in

Ike Will Fly to Georgia, Return For Baseball Opener

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower tentatively plans to fly to Augusta, Ga., next Monday for a week-long golfing holiday.

The President plans to return to the capital in time for the opening of the baseball season, April 17.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Tuesday the Chief Executive will leave for Georgia sometime Monday morning if the Masters' Tournament at the Augusta National Golf Club winds up on schedule Sunday. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower.

Hagerty said if there is a tie requiring a tournament playoff Monday, the Eisenhowers will delay departing until Tuesday. He said the President does not want his presence on the course to interfere with the tournament.

Mr. Eisenhower promised to throw out the first ball at the American League's 1956 opening game between the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees.

4,939 Students Enrolled at SIU For Spring Term

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A 15.5 per cent increase over last year's total was recorded as Southern Illinois university closed the books on spring term registration Friday.

Registrar Robert McGrath pegged the total resident enrollment at 4,939, an increase of 665 over the spring quarter registration in 1955.

McGrath said the complete figure "will probably exceed 5,000" by the time latecomers join during the registration procedure during the first week of April.

Included in the overall total are 113 students registered at the Belleville Resident Center. The rest of the breakdown:

Freshmen—1,408.
Sophomores—1,007.
Juniors—831.
Seniors—677.
Graduate Students—392.
Unclassified Undergraduates — 103.
Vocational-Technical Institute — 408.

In addition to resident students, McGrath said, the rolls show 757 students in off-campus extension courses and 465 students at SIU's University Laboratory School. There are also 1,358 adults listed in non-credit night courses under SIU's adult education program.

Reese Sparks Dodgers to 6-3 Win Over Braves; Cardinals Beat White Sox

By United Press

PeeWee Reese, whose early spring injury made the Brooklyn Dodgers hurt all over, headed for his 14th big league season today still regarded as the world champions' "solid man."

Reese, who suffered a back injury when he slipped during infield practice back on March 2 and was sidelined 23 days, enjoyed his best day of the spring Tuesday as the Dodgers scored a 6-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves at Jacksonville, Fla. The win squared the 11-game series at two victories for each team. Reese came through with two doubles and a single in three trips to the plate drove in two runs to spark Brooklyn's 10-hit attack.

The St. Louis Cardinals, meanwhile, continued their brilliant showing in the Citrus Circuit when they beat the Chicago White Sox, 7-5, for their 12th win in 14 games and 16th in 24 Grapefruit league games.

Herman Wehmeier and Saul Rogovin collaborated in a four-hitter as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Detroit Tigers, 3-1. The Tigers scored an unearned run off Rogovin after Wehmeier shut them out for six innings.

Warriors Lead In Pro Finals

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Warriors, with a 2-1 lead in the "World Series of basketball," headed west today with renewed hope of winning their first National Basketball Assn. championship since entering the league in 1947.

The Philadelphians, although cautioned against over-confidence by Coach George Senesky, were counting on a victory in the fourth game against Fort Wayne at the Pistons' court Thursday night. A triumph there would give the Warriors a chance to clinch the title in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series here Saturday night.

Senesky, in his freshman year as a full-time NBA coach, was pleased over the comeback play of his Warriors after Tuesday night's 100-96 victory over the Pistons.

Pistons' Coach Charlie Eckman moaned that "poor foul shooting beat us" as Fort Wayne converted only 32 of 47 free throws. Philadelphia had a 30-42 mark at the foul line.

Eckman also credited the 27-point performance of Paul Arizin as a big part in the Philadelphia victory.

The California Legislature voted a four-million-dollar appropriation of state funds to finance the games.

John Roosevelt Urges Republican President, Congress

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) — John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Tuesday night called for the election of a "Republican president and Congress this year, and the election of a Republican governor in New York state in 1958."

Roosevelt appeared as a guest speaker representing the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee at a dinner of the Dutchess County Republican Committee. He supported Eisenhower in the 1952 presidential campaign, and the Republican Party against "complacency in the coming campaign." He also said Richard Nixon was his "personal choice" for vice president.

Show Friendly Spirit In Middle East: Truman

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said today the present administration is not taking advantage of its "chance to be friendly" in the Middle Eastern crisis.

Mr. Truman discussed the Middle East problem briefly with newsmen this morning after he had blasted the Eisenhower administration in a speech Tuesday night for misleading the American people by saying Russian policy is "bankrupt."

"The fact is," Mr. Truman said in his address to the Overseas Press Club, "that Communist policy has never been more aggressive than it is now—in its new form of economic and political penetration. Not since the end of the war has the Communist strategy been more effective and more dangerous."

Mr. Truman said at the breakfast table this morning that he felt the Middle Eastern situation "could be settled" if the United States would just "let people know our intent is peace and not expansion."

Mr. Truman said the new Russian threat called for a "renewed and expanded" foreign economic program for the United States. He said the administration appeared to have no conception of the magnitude of the Russian economic challenge or of a program to meet it.

He said the only foreign economic program the Republicans have had is one they inherited from the Roosevelt and Truman administrations and have administered badly.

Rites Friday for Son-in-Law of S. E. Handley

Handley of RFD 3, Harrisburg, who was fatally injured Tuesday morning in a highway accident, will be Friday at 2 p. m. at St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church on North First Avenue in Evansville. Burial will be in the Memorial Gardens in Evansville.

Mr. Sparrow, 41, who was an employee of the Ohio Valley Hardware Co. in the roofing division, was riding in the rear of a company truck when it collided with a Southern Independent Producers Gasoline truck about 9:30 a. m. Sparrow was thrown from the truck and killed instantly. None of the other three men involved in the crash was hurt.

Survivors include his wife, Dora; two sons, Sammy and Tommy; and a daughter, Judy, who is 14; two brothers, Kermith of Evansville, and Kenneth of Huntington, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sparrow of Evansville.

The body lies in state at the Johann funeral home in Evansville.

Farmers May Apply Until Oct. 1 for Refund On Federal Gasoline Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers have until Oct. 1 to apply for refunds of the 2-cent federal tax on gasoline, diesel oil and special motor fuels used in farming.

The refunds are provided for in a law signed Monday by President Eisenhower. They cover the period from Jan. 1 through next June 30.

The Internal Revenue Service said Tuesday the refunds will total an estimated 60 million dollars a year or about $12 annually for each of the nation's five million farmers.

Refunds are restricted to gasoline and motor fuels used by a farmer or a person he hires for work on his own farm or for special jobs.

Eisenhower Receives More Funds Than He Has Requested from House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, which usually slashes appropriations, so far this year has given President Eisenhower $118,000,000 more than he requested for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Increases included $135,500,000 for medical research, $9,000,000 more than Mr. Eisenhower requested; $39,300,000 for grants to states for maternal and child welfare, an increase of $4,000,000; $29,200,000 for vocational education, up $2,700,000; and $15,000,000 for construction at national parks, boosted by $9,800,000.

The biggest increase, $305,000,000 has little vote-getting appeal. The House approved $600,000,000, instead of the $295,000,000 requested, to pump up the Civil Service

$600 Contributed by Harrisburg's Woman's Club for Benefit of Projects

As the 1955-56 Woman's club year begins to draw to a close, it is estimated by the president, Mrs. L. B. Kimmel, that approximately $600 has been used for the benefit of various club, civic and state projects through the efforts of the club women.

In the Easter Seal drive of the past week, which was sponsored by the Harrisburg Woman's club, $375 was contributed to this worthy project. All of the State Federated club projects have been remembered in gifts to the Federation.

Eisenhower Hits Present Farm Bill

al. He said with obvious emotion that he would never be guilty of any action that could be interpreted as war without going to Congress first.

5. He has been in frequent communication by mail with British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden and their exchanges invariably mention the Middle East. He said, however, that to his knowledge he has not received any recent communication from Eden asking for a firmer U. S. stand on the Middle East situation.

6. He had considered going to the Pacific next month for the H-bomb test, but rejected the idea because he thought his presence at the weapons test might be interpreted as being contrary to his chief interest—world peace.

Mr. Eisenhower's discussion of the farm situation was touched off by a questioner who told him that on the basis of a heavier Democratic vote than in 1952, Kefauver supporters contended that the Wisconsin outcome reflected unrest among farmers. The President was asked whether he believed the Republicans should be worried about the farm vote in the November elections.

The President started off by saying that he did not want to interpret the primary although he thought the heavy turnout Tuesday in bad weather was a source of gratification for all concerned.

He said it would be idle to say that farmers have no problems, but he traced the agricultural price decline to surpluses built up by rigid price supports enacted by the Democrats in the past.

Mr. Eisenhower felt that the administration farm programs submitted to Congress earlier this year, with the soil bank as a chief provision, would have gone far in helping farmers this year, if they had been enacted promptly. But he was plainly dismayed that the farm bill had now been adorned by so many amendments. He said some of the amendments are clumsy and others even worse.

Defers Judgment

The one considered most "unacceptable" by the administration would junk its program of flexible price supports and restore rigid high supports on basic crops.

The President deferred any additional judgment on the measure until it is before him in final form. He said he was still looking for a good bill but he wanted one that would be as sensible five years from now as it would be today.

As for what the Republicans have to fear from the farmers this fall, the President said farmers today certainly have a right to be concerned but he believed they are for the most part sensible men who know that the administration is doing everything within its power to help.

The suggestion came in several ways that Mr. Eisenhower might be willing to compromise this stand on the farm bill. He disavowed any all-or-nothing intentions and said it would be folly to lose good accomplishments because of a few bad points. Again however, he said, he would have to await the arrival of a final draft before coming to a conclusion.

The name of Lot's wife is not mentioned in the Bible.

one's less fortunate fellowmen. Two typewriters, a watch, innumerable toiletries, hose, socks, cigarettes etc., have been presented to inmates of the state hospital at Anna by the Harrisburg club.

The public library was presented with $26 for new books, and three memorial books, costing $7 apiece, were placed on the shelves in tribute to the late Mrs. A. G. Abney, Mrs. H. T. Towle, and Mrs. Taylor Ferguson.

Ten dollars were contributed for the operation of the youth center and sponsors for February were club members and their husbands. At Christmas time the children in the orthopedic room of the city schools were given a party which cost $12, and each year the club pays $35 each for a student to attend Art camp and Music camp.

Contributions of $5 each to the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, polio, cancer research, the tuberculosis seal sale, and various other projects are annually made by the Harrisburg Woman's club.

Mrs. Hudson Mudge, secretary, said that more than $300 of a gift of $725.77 from the Margaret Elder Taylor estate, received in December, were used to replace inheritance tax paid for this bequest. The remainder was invested in bonds.

It is pointed out that the club has a student loan fund that is inactive, and which they would like to activate by loaning to help some student obtain a college education. Interested students could contact any of the club members.

Two Indicted by Pulaski Jury for Murder at Olmsted

MOUND CITY, Ill. (AP) — A Pulaski County grand jury indicted two men Tuesday for the murder of an Olmsted tavern keeper.

The indictments were returned against Norman Halliday Jr., 33, and Al Masters, 37, both of Cairo. Authorities said Masters' real name is Alfred L. Reahm.

The two men are charged with murdering Clate Adams, 57, in his tavern Feb. 28. Authorities said Halliday gave them a statement accusing Masters of the actual shooting.

Sheriff Robert Aldrich said robbery apparently was the motive.

Halliday and Masters are scheduled to be arraigned Thursday before Circuit Judge Ross Reynolds. If they plead innocent, their trial will be scheduled for the court term beginning April 23.

Bee Under Bolero Doesn't Faze Bride During Ceremony

OUNDLE, England (AP) — Many brides are nervous. But not auburn-haired Margaret Collins.

She stood calmly throughout the ceremony Tuesday as she married Patrick Cunningham. And all the time she could feel a bee crawling along beneath her bolero.

The bee stung her near the end of the ceremony but she endured the pain and carried on.

But when the wedding was over she dashed from the church to a drug store for treatment. Her husband ran after her.

In the store he helped remove the lace-trimmed, tight-fitting bolero, and there was the bee and the swelling wound.

Mrs. Cunningham dabbed on some medicine and left calmly for the reception.

Syria Warns UN To Keep Hands Off Palestine

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Syria warned the great powers today to keep hands off Palestine.

Russia, backing up the Arabs, added a warning that it would not permit action by the U. N. Security Council to be used as a pretext to justify Western military intervention in the troubled Middle East.

Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev, arguing for elimination of a statement that the Palestine situation endangers international peace and security, told the council the words might be "used later to justify separate action, that is action outside the Security Council."

Syrian Ambassador Ahmed Shukairy, regarded as the Arab spokesman in the United Nations debate on sending Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on a peace mission to the Holy Land, told the Security Council the Arabs welcomed consideration by the world organization of their dispute with Israel.

He said if the dispute was of international concern it should be handled at the international level, either by the U. N. Security Council or by the General Assembly.

"If the Palestine question is one of regional concern, then the great powers must keep away, with hands off."

Shukairy urged a U. N. crack-down on Israeli forces along the Palestine armistice demarcation lines and urged that the council take action to place Israel "in a state of inability and impotence to commit any aggression."

Cairo Musician Is Jailed on Narcotics Charge

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — A musician from Cairo is in jail after being arrested by federal agents on a narcotics charge.

The agents arrested Luther E. Taylor, 30, here Tuesday and found a quantity of marijuana at his home. Taylor waived preliminary hearings and U. S. Commissioner J. E. Clutts set his bond at $10,000.

Taylor was unable to post bond and was taken to the federally approved jail at Murphysboro pending court action.

Federal agents also arrested George Lewis, 43, who also is a musician, in Cincinnati in connection with the case. Lewis formerly played in a band here.

Greenglass Loses Bid for Parole

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Greenglass, the ex-soldier who slipped atomic secrets to Julius and Ethel Rosenberg's Soviet spy ring, has lost a bid for a parole.

The Federal Parole Board Tuesday denied without comment Greenglass' petition for a parole from the remaining 10 years of his 15-year sentence for espionage.

Greenglass, brother of Ethel Rosenberg, freely admitted his activities in the Rosenberg spy ring when he testified at the Rosenbergs' trial. The Rosenbergs were executed in June, 1953.

You Spend $1 Out of Every 4 in Taxes

By JOHN ROBBINS
NEA Special Correspondent

The average American city family with a $6,000 income spends one dollar but of four on taxes.

Here's how it's figured based on 1955 taxes: First draw up a budget for such a typical family—father, mother and two youngsters. Then, with the help of some of the country's financial experts, study what share of that budget goes into taxes.

The total amount that ends up in the hands of some branch of the government is $1,513, or 25.2 per cent.

Of that sum, $1,018 is for direct taxes—income, real estate and sales taxes.

The rest winds up as taxes in hidden or indirect ways, such as a store's property taxes, or a manufacturer's income tax.

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer aren't aware they are paying these hidden taxes when they shell out the cash for a loaf of bread, a screwdriver, or a newspaper.

But taxes are included in the bill, just as surely as though they had been itemized.

Of their total tax of $1,513, according to the breakdown, the Federal Government ends up with more than two-thirds, $1,030.

Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer's home state gets $154.

Their own local governments—city or town, county, and school board—collects $268.

Other states outside their own are able to reach their long arms into Mr. Taxpayer's pocket for $24, and other local governments outside their home county for $27.

Biggest single outlay is Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer's federal income tax. They take every deduction they can, and use all their exemptions and they still end up paying $564, nearly 10 per cent of their income.

The 3 per cent state sales tax puts a bite on them for $99. That includes the $60 paid on a new $2,000 car.

Most states with a lower sales tax or no sales tax at all make up for it with an income tax. At the $6,000 income level of the average American city family, the net result comes out about the same, one way or the other.

Other taxes on the car, such as the federal excise tax and the income tax of the dealer and the manufacturer, are figured only on the basis of the $500 in payments which the Taxpayers make during the year. About one-quarter of the total cost of the car is actually tax expense.

On only three expenditures—their hospitalization insurance, their donations to church and charity, and their union dues—does the family escape paying something in taxes.

The social security deduction from Mr. Taxpayer's pay isn't figured as a tax, since presumably he or his wife will get it back some day in the form of insurance.

The biggest percentage bite that governments put on any purchase comes on the bottle of liquor that the Taxpayers invest in about once a month. Out of the $38 budget item, $26 goes for taxes, or 68 per cent.

Other high tax items included: Movies and entertainment such as ball games, on which the Taxpayers get nicked for a 10 per cent federal admission tax. Total rate, 25 per cent.

Cigarettes, the most of which was 46 per cent taxes.

Beer, which the Taxpayers buy in the handy take-home package, leaving 31 cents out of each dollar behind in taxes.

Lipstick and powder, which Mrs. Taxpayer considers a necessity, but on which the Federal Government slaps a 10 per cent excise tax as a luxury.

Handbag and compact, which Mrs. Taxpayer numbers among her department store purchases. Again Uncle Sam clips her for 10 per cent.

Utility bills, an average of 27 per cent of which slips right through the fingers of the gas, electric and phone companies and comes to rest at some level of government.

The accompanying table shows how the Taxpayers' income was spent in 1955.

Oh ho," you readers may say. "This family spent more money last year than it took in."

Well, didn't yours?

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Stevenson Turns to Edward J. Barrett for Support Downstate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special) — Anxiety over the possibility that he might be in trouble in Illinois, even though he is without official opposition on the primary ballot, has caused Adlai E. Stevenson to turn to Edward J. Barrett, Cook county clerk and former secretary of state, for support in downstate. Stevenson ate "humble pie" with Barrett at a luncheon in Chicago last week and asked for Barrett's help.

The former Illinois governor and Democratic candidate for president in 1952, was Barrett's host. It is reliably reported he asked Barrett to handle his Illinois campaign for the state's Democrat presidential preferential election in an effort to stop a growing movement to "write in" the name of U. S. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for Democrat president.

Stevenson's desire to have Barrett handle his campaign in its closing days and his implied admission that the former Illinois secretary of state is a Democrat power who can win friends and influence people in downstate, apparently springs from a conclusion that a strong Kefauver showing in Illinois might mean the end of Stevenson's effort for a second try at the presidency.

That there is some cause for the anxiety of Stevenson and his adherents can be seen in a scrutiny of 1952 election returns. These figures show Eisenhower defeating Stevenson by 443,407 whereas Barrett lost for re-election by only 9,303. In 1952 Stevenson carried only three downstate counties whereas Barrett carried 27. Barrett's 1952 vote was 2,187,024 as against 2,013,920 for Stevenson.

It is no great secret that some Democrat leaders have been trying to get Barrett to swing into those downstate areas where he is popular. He was asked to make speeches and now Stevenson has added his voice. Barrett however, reminded them ironically, but truthfully enough that he is a candidate for county clerk and has taken on the added duties of a Chicago ward committeeman.

Barrett confirmed he lunched with Stevenson and that the ex-governor asked him for advice, that there was some discussion of 1952 differences when Stevenson defeated a bid by the former state secretary for the Democrat gubernatorial nomination, vacated when Stevenson supported the then Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon, Dixon, who won the nomination over Barrett by the barest of margins.

Barrett told Stevenson that he had forgotten past differences, that he has no part in the Kefauver drive and that he is an organization man. Barrett was quoted as saying he volunteered to help Stevenson and made some phone calls downstate and suggested some TV appearances by Stevenson. But he reportedly told Stevenson he was in what could very well be a tough race for county clerk which would not permit any platform appearances by him outside Chicago and Cook county.

Spending by State Governments At Record High

WASHINGTON 12—The Census Bureau reported today state governments spent more money in fiscal 1955 than ever before in United States history.

The states spent $20,300,000,000 in the 12-month period ending in June 1955. That's $127 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

The federal government spent about $377 a person during the same period.

State revenues also reached record proportions for the year, but they did not match spending increases. The states as a whole went deeper into the red.

SIU Administrators Develop Plan for Even Opportunity in Class Schedules

CARBONDALE, Ill. — With an eye toward next fall's expected enrollment record, Southern Illinois university administrators have developed a three-pronged plan to give all students an even opportunity in class scheduling.

Registrar Robert McGrath said the "critical problem of space and time," plus the need to accommodate SIU's many commuters and part-time workers, prompted the new plan.

The system involves a lengthened class week with a full schedule of classes from early morning through late afternoon and evening, plus the recently announced addition of Saturday morning classes as a routine part of the school week.

Part two of the plan is the setting up of three separate schedule systems for students. System "A" will be a morning schedule, designed for the commuter, working student or athlete who wants his afternoons free. He will be assigned courses between 8 a. m. and 1 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

System "B," for the student who works in the mornings and Saturdays, will be a strict afternoon and evening class schedule, Monday through Friday.

The third schedule is for students not committed to other activities, and runs the gamut of day and night class times from 8 a. m. Monday through Saturday noon.

To round out the new program, a Sectioning Center will be set up to assure that all sections of a course with heavy enrollment are filled evenly. "This means," McGrath said, "that all students are to share evenly in classes offered at less favored hours."

McGrath said, "Beginning last December the University Council faced the problem of how to schedule sufficient sections into the time and space available. With the prospect of a 500 to 1,000 enrollment increase in September, a major readjustment seemed necessary."

"It boils down to restricting a student's choice so that best times won't be taken by pre-registrants and first-comers," McGrath said. "By controlling the allocation of class times within the limits of each student's requirements, we can be sure of an even distribution. Student needs will be respected, but student desires may not be."

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS: The Legend of Willie Potts

By John W. Allen
Southern Illinois University

According to a story that has circulated in Hardin County, Illinois, for about 150 years, William Potts, Jr., more often referred to as "Willie," succeeded only too well in the plans he made to play a joke upon his parents. His success, however, cost him his life, cost his parents many years of sorrow and gave the region one of its most interesting legends.

Willie was the son of William Potts, Sr., who kept a widely known tavern beside the early trail known as Ford's Ferry Road. Potts' tavern was about 10 miles north from the place where Thomas Ford operated a ferry on the Ohio River about two miles above Cave-in-Rock. The site of the old tavern, some markings of it, and the spring are still pointed out to visitors.

Perhaps it would be more appropriate to say that Potts' tavern was notorious rather than noted. It marked the northern end of a section of the trail along which numerous robberies are recorded, where many travellers disappeared and where the body of a slain man was occasionally found. Willie Potts grew up in this environment and it is thus not strange that he tended toward a life of violence. Some of the men engaged in robbery along that trail often loitered about the tavern. Willie mixed with them and heard their stories. It thus was not strange that he became interested in their doings. Young and ambitious, Willie decided to try his lone hand at robbery and began to look about for a victim.

First Victim

According to legend, Willie selected for his first victim a prosperous looking traveller going from Ford's Ferry toward his father's tavern and rode along with him for some distance before deciding that the best way to begin his career of crime would be to shoot and rob his companion. When Willie attempted to do so, however, the stranger who had become suspicious and alert was first on the draw and shot young Potts in the shoulder. The wound was not too serious and the would-be robber rode away at great speed. According to the second version, Willie had met his prospect as they journeyed in opposite directions along the road and was robbing him at gunpoint when two farmers not so friendly to Willie came upon the scene and witnessed the robbery. Without doubt they would report the crime to proper authorities. This might cause an investigation of a number of crimes that had been laid against the hands that loitered about Ford's tavern in Kentucky and Potts' tavern in Hardin County. Fearing the exposure that might result, it was decided that Willie should leave for a spell.

He immediately left and was gone for a number of years during which he evidently plyed his trade with success in other regions. Now very grown up and changed in appearance, Willie decided that he could safely pay a visit to the scenes of his boyhood. He was now a large man and would not be readily recognized. He also had grown a heavy dark beard that would add to the difficulty of recognition.

Killed By Father

Members of the gang with which young Potts had once operated observed the apparent prosperity of the stranger when he stopped on his way home at Ford's tavern in Kentucky. One of the group to whom he revealed his identity informed the others that the supposed stranger was their old confederate, Willie Potts. Hence the plans they had formed to rob him were dropped and he was welcomed back by the group. The next day young Potts went on his way toward his father's tavern at the northern end of the road and arrived there late in the afternoon. Neither the mother nor the father recognized the stranger as their son. Willie enjoyed the success of his plan and decided to wait until the morning to tell them who he was. He and the elder Potts sat talking until bedtime.

Young Potts, being thirsty, asked for a drink of fresh water. His father, as was the custom, suggested that they go to the near by spring for a drink. When they reached it, young Potts knelt, placed his hands upon the stones, as he had done so often in earlier years, leaned forward and began to drink. The elder Potts, seeing the opportunity that the situation offered, drew a long dagger that he always carried and plunged it into the unsuspecting drinker's back, just below the left shoulder blade. Young Potts died at once.

Finds Birthmark

The father took the large roll of bills that his victim carried. Further search did not reveal any means of identifying the body of the man. Potts removed the body of his victim as was his practice in such cases to a nearby hillside and placed it in a shallow grave. He then returned to the tavern, informed his wife that he had made a successful haul and went to bed. By his standards it had been a successful day.

The next morning some of the gang with whom his son had once associated came to the tavern from Ford's place in Kentucky. They had come to celebrate the return of their former associate. When the new arrivals inquired concerning Willie the mother and father were puzzled. They thought that a joke was being played and appeared to resent it. Further questioning and a description of the one sought aroused grave anxiety in both Potts and his wife. They began to fear that the stranger of the night before was their son.

Upon the departure of the puzzled visitors, Potts took a spade, went to the newly-made grave and began to remove the dirt from over the body. His consternation and remorse may be imagined when the body was uncovered and careful examination revealed a tell-tale birthmark. This mark was a dark figure shaped like a four leafed clover, once called "the lucky mark," on the left breast, just about where the point of the dagger had pierced through. Potts had killed his own son.

Gov't Investment in Farm Supports Climbs To Record $8.1 Billion

WASHINGTON — The government's investment in farm price supports has climbed to a record $8,900,000,000, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The $8,900,000,000 investment as of Feb. 29 included $5,700,000,000 worth of surplus farm products owned by the government and $3,200,000,000 in outstanding price support loans to farmers.

Cities Borrow Idea From Dentists

CHICAGO — Cities are taking a leaf from the dentists.

They are working increasingly on the theory that their residents, like dental patients, don't mind pain so long as they know: (1) they are being hurt for good reason, and (2) how long the pain will last.

The American Public Works Association says more and more cities are telling their residents why they are being inconvenienced by any construction project and how long it will take to finish the work.

The city of Winnetka, Ill., prepares mimeographed notes describing the work under way and distributes them by messenger to each family or business in the affected area.

Vancouver, B. C., sends two men to interview all businessmen along a street where work is planned. The interviewers try to find out how construction can be arranged to lessen the inconvenience to the merchants.

At Burbank, Calif., the city puts an announcement in the envelope with the water and electric bills, telling about planned construction projects.

And in Cincinnati, O., when a major street was torn up along one side, a sign informed motorists that the work was being done to give citizens a better water supply.

THE STORY: Mike Morrison, an American, is in Athens on business when the Germany Army invades Greece in 1941. His lawyer, Stergiou, asks him to deliver a letter to London. Morrison thinks it is a business communication, but it is a message to British intelligence. Konrad Heiser, a German agent, knows of Mike's visits to Stergiou, but thus far Morrison is not suspected of helping the British.

Mike stood at Petraki, 17. The street was black and empty. He swayed up the steps and reached for the big brass knocker. It hit the plate and the door jarred open. He leaned against the door frame, bracing himself and waiting for Tassos to come.

"Only got one good ear between them anyhow."

Mike shoved the door and plunged into a pitch-black hallway. He fumbled through his pockets, found his matches and lit one and squinted around. The match burned his fingers. He dropped it and yelled. He lit another and found the hall switch.

"Stergiou! Wake up! His echo bounced through the place weirdly. He staggered farther into the hall and called again. The house was eerie and his head reeled from wine.

"Stergiou, come out, come out, wherever you are!"

He stood before the door to the old man's office. "Probably asleep at his desk."

Mike leaned against the door and pitched into the office. The door groaned shut behind him. His hands groped for the desk lamp.

The lamp light broke the room into dim yellow and black shadows. His eyes peered into the shadows and he scanned the room. It was a shambles!

There—on the floor—Stergiou's glasses—smashed, and the carpet red with blood around them.

"Morrison," a voice whispered from the shadow.

The blood rushed from Mike's lips as a jolt of fear hit him. His throat muscles tightened into dryness.

Mike's jaw trembled open. "Who are you?" he croaked unevenly.

"Over—by the door," the voice said.

"Who are you? Where is Stergiou?"

"Stergiou's dead."

His head turned slowly and he strained his eyes. . . . Yes, there was someone there. . . . Through the dull yellow shadow he could see a man's face staring at him.

"Oh—no—no—no. Leave me alone—leave me alone. I'm—I'm getting out of here. . . ." He lurched toward the door in blind fear.

"Morrison! Stand still! I have a gun on you!"

The command halted him. Mike's eyes bulged in terror. His face was wet with sweat. He looked at the man. The man sat in a chair. . . . There were streaks of blood running from the corners of the man's mouth and the man's big walrus mustache was red with blood.

"What do you want of me?" Mike pleaded.

"The envelope—the envelope—you must deliver it. . . . A plane—leaves Tatol airdrome—midnight—take my credentials. . . ."

Mike's hands fumbled through his pockets. He found the envelope. "Take it. . . . I'm an American citizen—you've no right to mix me up in this. . . ."

The man groaned and his eyes rolled and on his face appeared the stamp of death. His whisper fluttered. . . . "You have no choice, Morrison. They'll get you. They are on to you. . . . Don't—don't try the American Embassy. . . . They'll have it surrounded. . . . They—they have friends—everywhere. . . . You—have no choice, Morrison."

The hand holding the pistol dropped limply and the pistol clattered to the floor. Mike grabbed the man's lapel.

"Who are they?" he said. "Who are they?"

The man's head rolled back. His lips trembled open but he was unable to speak. Mike bent down and picked up the pistol and put the credential card in his pocket.

Thinking It Over

By Robert Diefenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service

America is finding a way out of frustration and confusion through a nearness to God never before felt by so many people. Folk of all faiths are praying and worshipping the God they know and in whom they believe.

In Oklahoma a rural filling station has a prayer sanctuary where motorists may stop for spiritual refreshment. On the Baltimore docks, a Negro sweeper leads workers in a daily prayer devotional. Employees of a San Diego aircraft company recently built their own meditation chapel.

A Pittsburgh steel worker started a prayer group amid the din of the noisy mill. Labor-management negotiations at a Toledo oil company frequently begin with prayer. Industrial chaplains, religious counselors and psychiatrists work together in a number of plants to help employees solve personal problems. The salary of one industrial chaplain in a meat-packing concern is paid for jointly by union and management.

Several General Electric plants had daily Lenten services conducted by Catholic priests and Protestant clergymen.

Several companies have laymen who offer religious counsel to employees. This help has been so desired by workers that appointments have to be scheduled in advance to properly serve the people.

Yes, our nation wants to translate its religion into action for everyday living.

Biggest Battle

The battle for Leyte Gulf, on October 22-27, 1944, probably was the biggest naval action ever fought. About 166 American ships and 1280 planes engaged 65 Japanese ships and 716 planes in the action.

ASC Explains How Farmers Can Place 1956 Corn Crops Under Gov't Price Supports

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

The planting season is coming on, and the Illinois office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service told today how farmers can place their 1956 corn crops under the government price support program.

Everything hinges on what Congress does in the way of farm legislation, but the program now in effect provides three methods by which a farmer can make his crop eligible for price supports.

All three methods require compliance with acreage allotments fixed by county ASC committees, and no crop can be judged eligible until planting is finished and it is determined that allotments have been observed.

Illinois' present total acreage allotment is 7,008,873 acres, compared to 8,172,895 acres in 1955. This, however, also may be changed by Congress.

Can Apply Until May 31

In 1955, about 185 million bushels of the state's total corn crop of 519 million bushels was eligible for price supports. About 85½ million bushels of the 1955 crop has been placed under the price support program, and ASC officials said they expect the figure to reach about 125 million bushels from this crop. Farmers in the northern two-thirds of the state have until May 31 to apply for government loans on the 1955 crop.

Here is how a farmer may go about placing his corn crop under the price-crop program:

1. By storing his grain in an approved warehouse which has an agreement with the Commodity Credit Corp. These warehouses or bins are spread over the state, and the farmer must make his own arrangements for getting his grain into them. There is not enough such storage space to meet all demands, and generally, ASC officials said, elevator operators and warehousemen take care of their regular customers first.
2. The farmer gets a receipt for the grain he stores in the warehouse or bin, then takes the receipt to the county ASC office which issues him a "sight draft" or a note. This transaction amounts to a loan, and the farmer may convert the draft or note into cash.
3. The corn is still his property, and he has until July 31 following the harvest to redeem the loan in cash, plus interest. If he fails to do this, the CCC takes over ownership of the corn. If the CCC can immediately sell the corn for more than the support price, the farmer gets the money in excess of the support price.

However, since the support price is so often higher than the market price, many farmers forfeit their loans, thus in effect selling their corn to the CCC.

2. Farm storage loans in which the farmer stores his grain on his own farm in bins or warehouses that must be approved beforehand by the CCC. The farmer's corn

Fourth Annual SIU Playground Institute At Little Grassy Lake June 13 to 16

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Nearly 150 playground recreation directors and junior leaders are expected to attend Southern Illinois university's fourth annual Playground Leadership Institute June 13-16 at Little Grassy Lake.

From two to six quarter hours of college credit will be granted for the course, which will include post-institute service on playgrounds in area communities. SIU is sponsoring the program in cooperation with the Southern Illinois Recreation Directors.

Persons taking the course for credit will be required to pay tuition plus a $12 room and board fee, although group rates are lower. Towns without full-time recreation directors but with summer playground programs are encouraged to enroll personnel.

The institute's teaching staff will be composed mainly of faculty members at Southern, headed by Dr. William H. Freeberg, chairman of the recreation and outdoor education department.

Instruction will be offered in arts and crafts, circus pageant, day camping, playground safety and first aid, sports and games, dramatics, music and story telling and nature studies.

To lay groundwork for the institute, a conference for representatives of small southern Illinois communities interested in setting up summer playground programs has been scheduled for May 5 at SIU.
